HIKERS HEAD FOR ILLINOIS

The hikers next adventure will take place in Illinois via the Davis St. Ferry. Everyone meet at 2 P.M. at 8200 South Broadway and Davis Street for a ferry ride across the Mississippi and hiking in Illinois. Join the merry throng for an afternoon of fun. Virginia Goergens will lead the hikers through the woods where all nature's beauty abounds. There is also a nice beach where anyone can be burned to a crisp. Ferry ride is 5 cents each way; bring lunch; drinks will be available on the grounds.

The Pero Marquette hiking pictures are on the 10th floor bulletin board.

FINAL RECKONING ON THE "FIFTH"

The final figures on the Fifth War Bond Loan drive are now completed and, as usual, REA retains its place in Top Flight:

Our quota was	$76,955.17
Bonds to be sold	$40,202.69
Payroll Deductions	36,752.48
Extra Purchases	53,007.75
TOTAL	$89,760.23

Since the last report, $4,250.00 additional purchases were made giving us some 32% over the top. REAers are justified in being mighty proud over the results, and particularly because of the sale of the "E" series bonds which have been reported the laggards. REMEMBER YOU DON'T GIVE IT - YOU LOAN IT!!

ELECTION OF OFFICERS FOR REAAA

The huge attendance makes it almost unnecessary to report the outcome of the election of REAAA officers on Monday, July 17. However, should there be any who were unable to attend and are yet in the dark as to who will guide the policies and sponsor the entertainments for the next year, SPAN takes pleasure in announcing the lucky winners.

President	Charles E. Brown
Vice-President	Joan Markland
Secretary	Irlene Lewis
Treasurer	James H. O'Brien
Board Members	Virginia Kallemeier Howard V. Killion B. B. Winsett

A unanimous vote was given to the slate chosen by a most able Nominating Committee who has selected a Board which we believe will carry on in the traditional manner.

The decorum of the meeting might be termed most exemplary as the only highlight of the convention was a verbal barrage between two bar-risters over their own legal verbiage which nobody understands anyway.

DIDJA KNOW THAT

"For Hubert Wales we'll shed some tears, the most maligned of the Financiers". 'Tis an eerie tale and one which even a mother wouldn't believe 'though there's them what say 'tis true and them what says couldn't be. Taxes being one sure thing in the life of mortal man, Hubert wended his way to see the Collector of this little burg but why one should go on such an errand with that kind of a gleam in his eye is one of the ponderables. A gleam, yes - when visiting said official but the kind to cause an unknown damsel to catapult herself into the arms of a perfect stranger (perhaps "perfect" explains it) is one - well, that should be seen! While the collision happened with such rapidity witnesses were unable to take inventory of the charms of the catapultor; it is known she was wearing a lovely summer brunette make-up with luscious raspberry (Hubert says 'twas Irresistible though we feel sure he meant the trade name) which left the most tell-tale marks on his freshly laundered collar. The gal's catapulting sounds too perfect to be unpracticed. Great consternation reigned in Finance and little helpful J. Andring tried to eradicate some of the incriminating signs which might prove embarrassing in facing one's family, while Uncle Joe was only concerned with what might be said about the Diviz as a whole - (if he only knew) - and immediately looked up all rules and regulations on the use of "contingency funds" to ascertain if a new shirt could be purchased immediately for one who might said to be riding on the horns of a dilemma - 'tain't only the timber wolves he'll have to contend with now. By way of consolation L. Beatty has promised to keep Hubert company come the 21st, on account of they both celebrate their natal day, (21 summers and a few hard "falls") but Mr. Charlie Mack wants them to wait until the 24th and he'll show them just how it is done. They should also take along that Fin gal whose theme song is "The Doors Swing In and the Doors Swing Out" and also, as consolation, that embarrassed other Fin, one Ned Poole, who is trying without much success to explain who in Minnesota sends him those endearing messages signed "Pinky". Then there's the one about the Legalers - seems they have gone back into hibernation 'til next fiscal year - at least peace and quiet reigns supreme or to such a degree that Gladys Skinner's refrigerator (do they also keep them on ice) has become the home of the "Columba Livia" - pigeon, to you - which has deposited her pretty little eggs and dutifully keeps them warm - (a monumental accomplishment in St. L.) - while Gladys and Mr. Zeigler take time out for a bit of nature study and looking up the law as to who now owns the domicile of said pigeon or who pays rent and is it in accordance with OPA regulations. "Off ag'in, on ag'in, away ag'in Patterson" would seem to describe Beulah Mae's travels since that day when she said "I do" and now she's gone ag'in but never worry - she'll be back. If Esquire was the originator of those "outing" shirt models seen in profusion at the picnic 'tis readily understandable why 'twas banned from the mails and that should have included "males". If those boys, and some of our very best people, too, could only see their profiles (and all the way down) their amour propre would suffer no end. However the picnic was a great success and everyone appeared to be having a great time though Monday brought forth a flock of lame muscles and a bit of accumulated heat from old Sol. HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE: The Legalers picnic at Forest Park for Mrs. Dockstader who has been visiting with her wee dotter, Barbara, and at said picnic one E. Johnson became enamoured with Badminton while she careened over the court in modish spiked heels and a "tres chic chapeau" exclaiming "Why, this is lots more fun than bridge"; D. Coffield, of Fin, a.l'ing in the east; Pete Mancini deserting us for Philadelphia and L. Blazek for Washington; Ruth Miller a.l'ing at the seashore; G. Gilmore back from his to look after his harem and the story is that F. Helring is way in front when it comes to harems; all the cute and cunning youngsters at the picnic which brought forth the most unholy thought "alas, alas their papas used to look just like that"; M. Mason back at her desk after an illness; the meagre attendance at the annual meeting of the REAAA and from now on it is going to be held at Knausts or Thompsons at 9:00 in the a.m. - a full attendance is expected; and EDITOR Speh and Flora back from their "moneyhoon" - PRAISE BE TO ALLAH.
